

LORENZ GROUP OUR RESPONSIBLE SOURCING COMMITMENT

We¹ feel responsible towards all people connected with Lorenz – to our consumers, our own employees, our business partners and suppliers, and to the large and small producers of our raw materials all over the world. This also includes ensuring fair and respectful working conditions along the value chain. Given the complexity of global supply chains, this is a major challenge that we are constantly working on. We believe that acting responsibly and supporting improvements alongside our supply chain is one key part to combine the joy of life provided by our snacks with the sustainable development of our company. Acting according to our WHY („We care for each individual so that they feel a sense of belonging and well-being”) and our values always gives us the right direction while making our decisions in regards to our partners, sourcing markets and materials.

THIS IS HOW WE DEFINE RESPONSIBLE SOURCING:

- Responsible Sourcing is a holistic collaboration approach to assure a truly integrated up-to-date product and brand quality from „field to fork”.
- It comprises a set of integrated activities in the areas of social conduct, food safety, purchasing techniques and risk management measures that are driven by our values, comply with legal requirements and are endorsed by our consumers.
- It positively impacts people, organizations, communities and the environment along our supply chains in order to secure and strengthen Lorenz as a successful and independent family business for the next generations.

OUR POLICY APPLIES TO BOTH DIRECT AND INDIRECT SUPPLIERS

At Lorenz, sustainability is at the core of everything we do. We are determined to improve the environmental and social impact of our actions by continuously challenging ourselves and our partners to do better. In addition to complying with all laws and regulations within the countries in which they operate, suppliers are requested to adhere to the minimum mandatory requirements defined in our Code of Conduct for Business Partners.

We acknowledge that no company can drive this change alone. Therefore Lorenz collaborates with its partners along the supply chain and strengthens the partnership with suppliers, farmers as well as governmental and non-governmental organizations. This is our approach to make a positive impact along the supply chain together: to build up trust with our suppliers and work together sustainably and successfully. Wherever possible we obtain raw materials directly from our contractual partners, for example our potatoes in the vicinity of our production sites.

In other countries like Mozambique or India, where we source our cashews and peanuts for example, direct contact with the grower is not always possible due to complex supply chains. Here we are working together with our suppliers and partners to establish control and transparency mechanisms. It is very important to us and part of our strategy to get actively involved on site and also to involve local residents. For example with the Cashew Development Fund in Mozambique, which provides training for farmers, establishes tree nurseries and supports a Daycare Center for the children of our partner supplier. Through these collaborations we are building transparency and ensuring compliance along our supply chains.

We are convinced that sustainable development and business success strongly support each other. Sustainability brings increased competitive advantage and innovation, as well as cost savings through operational efficiencies, lower energy use and less waste for all value chain participants. Through this they can economically thrive and allocate the necessary resources to continuously drive their positive sustainable development forward. However, this is only possible if all value chain participants receive their needed share of profit. This fundamental economical need we acknowledge for us as Lorenz and concede also to the other partners in our value chain.

stakeholders within our supply chain to actively work against poverty, gender inequality, climate changes, environmental/ biodiversity degradation and Human Rights breaches.

To achieve these goals means a continuous and challenging journey for us. Finding out that some partners in our supply chain are not fully complying with these goals and with our expectations does not necessarily mean to end the partnership, but to start working immediately together with our partners to improve the situation.

OUR OVERALL RESPONSIBLE SOURCING GOAL ON ONE SIGHT:

Our aim is to secure and strengthen Lorenz as a successful and independent family business for the next generations and at the same time to positively impact people, organizations, communities and the environment along our supply chains.

TO SECURE THE RESPONSIBLE SOURCING APPROACH, FOLLOWING BASICS HAVE TO BE CONDUCTED:

- All Lorenz suppliers have to acknowledge and to follow our “Code of Conduct for Business Partners”.
- At least once per year a risk assessment is conducted in regards to social, legal, quality and environmental risks in regards to the supplier relationships.
 - The risk assessment is the basis for activities implemented internally or with the respective supplier to mitigate the risk.
 - Negative results in the risk assessment does not necessarily mean ending the partnership, but for sure: actively driving an improvement of the situation.
 - In case of the identification of relevant risks in our assessments, we provide supplier trainings via the Haufe Academy.
- Lorenz accepts and complies with all local laws and fosters the improvement of social and environmental standards along the supply chain.
- All buyers attended the internal responsible sourcing training.
- Lorenz is working steadily on an increased transparency of the supply chain in order to make the origins of the processed goods and services visible.
- On dedicated key suppliers and strategic materials we are working closely within pre-competitive platforms such as the Sustainable Agriculture Initiative SAI, the Sustainable Nuts Initiative SNI and GIZ.
- It is the goal to have all direct suppliers (raws and packs) registered on the Sedex platform.

- We aim to engage our suppliers to decrease their overall carbon footprint, and actively work with our stakeholders to promote environmental action and positive contribution to biodiversity. E.g. by fostering the growing of flower stripes next to the fields or initiatives to support securing bee colonies.
- Lorenz commits to no-deforestation across its primary deforestation-linked commodities, with a target date of 2025. We will do this by assessing the risks within our own supply chain and establishing measures to avoid it.
- Our goal is to avoid the use of palm oil in our product. In cases where no suitable alternatives are available, we are committed to sourcing 100% RSPO-certified palm oil from trusted suppliers.
- Our suppliers are required to monitor and ensure a consistent level of quality of their products and services and to comply with all quality requirements clearly stated in our specifications and contracts.

To make our commitment and progress traceable we publish a Sustainability Report on a yearly basis. The Report and more information about our Responsible Sourcing activities is available on our website: <https://lorenz-snacks.com/sustainability>.
